Dear Valued Partner,

The Trust Practice and Risk Management Association (TrustPARMA) and the National Register of Health Service Psychologists are excited to announce the first-ever National Practice Conference (NPC).

We have secured some of the most knowledgeable and best-known psychologists and risk management experts to present topics that will prepare attendees for the challenges they'll face in 2019 and beyond.

Get your company noticed by hundreds of practicing psychologists and students who will be attending this year's event. This is the ultimate opportunity for today's savvy marketer to place their brand and message in front of the most concentrated group of psychology professionals available in one location.

Taking advantage of one of our diverse NPC 2019 sponsorship opportunities is the ideal way to increase awareness of your company, enhance existing relationships, and develop new leads so you can grow sales and profitability!

We look forward to your participation.
